The Equality Trust Warns of a Wealth Inequality Crisis, as UK Rich Increase Their Wealth by £274 billion Over Five Years

Analysis by The Equality Trust can, today, reveal that the richest 1,000 people in the UK have:

- Increased their wealth by £66 billion in the past year alone (2017 - 2018) [1]
- Increased their wealth by £274 billion in the past five years (2013 - 2018) [1]
- Increased their total wealth to the staggering sum of £724 billion, which is significantly more than the poorest 40% of households combined on £567 billion. [2]

Dr. Wanda Wyporska, Executive Director of The Equality Trust commented:

“Our annual Wealth Tracker research in recent years reveals that a vast amount of the nation’s wealth has been captured by a tiny number of people. This is economically illiterate, socially poisonous and politically dangerous and draws a harrowing picture of UK inequality. It should be a source of national shame.

“At the same time, many will be wondering why they have not seen their wages increase over the last five years, or why despite working hard and working long hours, they are struggling to put food on the table.

“The UK’s appalling wealth inequality is a gross injustice and a dire threat to our economy and social cohesion. If wealth continues to gush upwards, then opportunity and hope for future generations will steadily be strangled. This is a recipe for resentment, social division and, potentially, disaster.

“This fawning over obscene wealth is downright scandalous in a society where foodbank use, child poverty and inequality are damaging lives on a daily basis."

The Equality Trust is the national charity that campaigns to improve quality of life in the UK by reducing economic and social inequality. The UK is one of the most unequal countries in the developed world and evidence shows that this causes far worse rates of health and social problems than those found in more equal countries, including: poorer mental and physical health, higher violent crime, worse educational outcomes and lower levels of trust. Inequality is not inevitable. Together we can build a society where all can flourish.
